

Interamerican Headquarters Office Building Athens, Greece (2000 - 2002)

- Client: Interamerican Insurance Company
- Construction Cost: $ 19 million USD
- New Construction
- Project Size: 70,000 sq ft.

This is the Headquarters Office Building for Interamerican Insurance Company.

The building occupies a prominent position on the major thoroughfare of Syngrou Avenue in Athens close to the Acropolis and Philopappou monuments.

The building with its flatiron plan and projecting metal eaves has a distinct figural presence. Its architectural aesthetic brings together the glass and metal language of modern office architecture with the language of the classical tradition. The contrast between the solidity of the masonry and the fragility of the glass and metal envelope accentuates intentionally the dialogue between tradition and modernity.
